A Word from the Editor...

I think it was Kipling who said -
"A mini Battenburg all to oneself, isn't that everyone's dream?"

Well quite frankly no, it isn't.

Personally, I usually dream about sticking jaffa cakes up Melinda Messenger's arse whilst sailing round Sainsburys in a corduroy raft... and on that note I'd like to welcome you all to our rip-snorting 100th. issue.

This is the best fuckin' issue ever with all your favourite regular characters, plus a few blasts from the past (remember Psycho Derek,
Raging Knievel, Billy No
Mates and Poparse?). All gathered here to remind you of a time when the days were longer, the skies were bluer and the grass was fuckin' wipeout!

Enjoy!

Zit Letters

Dear Zit,

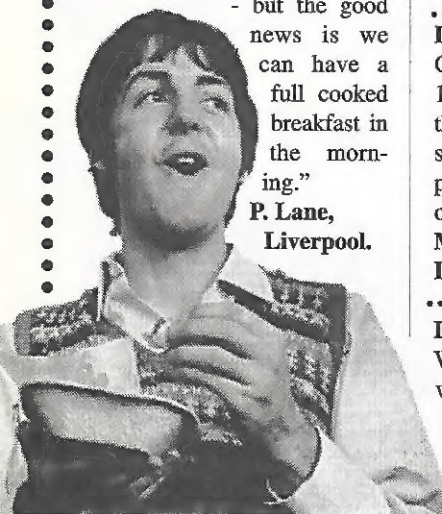

I was taking a stroll in the park the other day when I came across two young lads working on a government training scheme. One of them was digging holes and the other was following, close behind him, filling them in again. When I asked what they were doing, they told me that there was usually three of them, but the lad who planted the trees was off sick! It's no wonder this country's going down the toilet.
Major Ginger Pubes (retired). Hastings.

Dear Zit,

Paul McCartney comes back to his house and tells his kids he's got some good news and some bad news. "What's the bad news?" the kids ask. "Well," says Paul, "Your mother's dead

- but the good news is we can have a full cooked breakfast in the morning."

P. Lane, Liverpool.

Dear Zit,

I feel really sorry for Paul 'Gazza' Gascoigne. Imagine having to fly back sitting in-between that horrible ginger Nicky Butt and the less than handsome Andy 'Chinny' Hinchcliffe.

Morgan, Manchester.

Dear Zit,

So the voice of Homer Simpson is dead. Doh! Kenny, West Brom.

Dear Zit,

I gave my mate three grand to go to Amsterdam and bring me back some 'plants'. Imagine my surprise when he came back with fuckin' tulips.

Bernie, Norfolk.

Dear Zit,

Congratulations on reaching 100. Did you get a telegram off the Queen? Perhaps now you'll start to smell of cabbage and piss yourself whilst staring out of the window.

Mick, Leeds.

Dear Zit,

What's brown and sits on a wall? ...Humpty Dump.

Nelly, Kent.

Dear Zit,

I have just enjoyed a wonderful holiday in Spain. I was pleased to see so many 'English' restaurants. What a delight to get French food served by Spanish waiters in an Italian setting.

Noddy, Kent.

Dear Zit,

We have just enjoyed a pleasant meal in one of your country pubs. We enjoyed a delightful 'Old Ma's Cash and Carry Steak and Kidney Pie'. It was home-made and still frozen in the middle.

Ken and Jean Wynowski, New York.

Dear Zit,

This Mars Bar walks into a pub and asks the barman for a pint. "Sorry", says the barman, "I can't serve confectionery." Next thing, a Twix walks in and the same thing happens. Next a Tune and a Locket walk in, get served straight away and sit down. The Twix, annoyed by this, goes to the barman with the Mars Bar to complain. "How come they got served?" they ask him. "I wouldn't saying anything to them two," whispers the barman, "They're fuckin' menthol."

Lloyd, Grimsby.

Dear Zit,

I went to the doctor's the other day and told him that I felt like a cowboy. When he asked how long I'd been feeling like this, I said, "About a Yeeeehah!"

Tommy Spoons, Leeds.

Dear Zit,

Q. How can you tell if a woman is lying?

A. Her fuckin' lips move!

John, Carlisle.

Dear Zit,

This prostitute is such a manic Manchester United fan, that she gets George Best and Alex Ferguson tattooed on each of her thighs. Later, she gets this customer with no money, but fancying a shag anyway, decides to set him a puzzle. "Right", she says taking her tights off, "If you can tell me who these are, you can have a fuck." "Well", said the grateful man, "The one on the left is George Best, and the one on the right is Alex Ferguson." "Good," said the woman. "Hold on," said the man, "And the one in the middle is Roy Keane."

Nicky, Coronation Street.

Dear Zit,

As a particularly ugly woman, I would like to thank Bass and other fine brewing companies for producing such a fine product. You see, it gives us ugly lasses a chance of getting fucked.

Brenda Jones, Chad.

• Genius? - I think not.

Dear Zit,

It's high time those "so called" geniuses, who spend their entire lives trying to discover the 'Meaning of Life', realised they'd save themselves a whole heap of trouble by simply buying a cheap dictionary and looking under the letter 'L'.

Marvin Medium,
Stalybridge.

Dear Zit,

This woman goes into this baker's shop. She waits at the counter and no-one comes. She shouts but gets no reply. So she goes into the back and there's the baker putting the fancy edge on the steak and kidney pies with his false teeth. "My God!" says the woman, "Don't you have a tool for that?" "Yes," replies the baker unzipping his trousers, "But I use it for putting the holes in the doughnuts."

Jonathan Smith,
Leeds.

Dear Zit,

Can someone out there tell me who the fuck Bill Payer is? I desperately need to use the phone and I've got to ask his permission first.

Tommy.
Newcastle.

Dear Zit,

How unfortunate is my daughter's new address?

Miss Lilley Lykes.
The Cockwell Inn,
Tillit,

THANKYOU AND REMEMBER TO GIVE IS TO LIVE!

ONE MINUTE LATER...

...ZZZZZZZZZZ...

Are you the next Biggins

Let's face it, the boy's a bit upset. Having set his little Georgie heart on playing for his country in his last World Cup, he has to make do with watching it on a big screen surrounded by a load of knobheads in a smoky pub like the rest of us. So, with all the turmoil and the huge vacuum left by our Gazza, the search is on for a replacement. Could you be the next blubbering midfield star? Or are you the next Christopher Biggins? Just answer the piss- easy questions below and see if you could possibly be 'The New Paul Gascoigne' - Trevor!

Q1. How would you spend twenty grand a week?

- A. You wouldn't, you'd invest it in a number of blue chip companies and draw a steady income from the interest.
- B. On cocaine and young girls.
- C. You'd buy cars and gifts for all your fat mates and spend your evenings shagging and hanging around with celebs.

Q2. What makes you cry?

- A. Man's inhumanity to man, waste of good food, and the thought that your missus is now getting fucked by someone you hate.
- B. Not getting any more TV work having been typecast as a fat cunt in a safari suit.
- C. Not getting your own way and losing in a game of football.

Q3. Are you good at football?

- A. No, you're good at gardening and leaving a nasty smell in the bathroom.
- B. No, you're too fat.
- C. Yes, you play like God on speed, although you can't be bothered with training and all that shite.

Q4. What's your taste in women?

- A. Brunette, with a set of firm thighs and a good recipe book.
- B. Young and firm with a penis.
- C. Blonde, big tits, stupid and likes a slap to keep 'em in place.

Q5. What is your favourite meal?

- A. Avocado and duck.
- B. Hamburger and chips.

C. (To the tune of Blaydon races)
Away the lads,
Newcastle Broom's a winner,
Twenty Pints on satdy night,
And twelve for sundy dinna.
(Plus the odd chicken kebab.)

Q6. When you've just fucked up in front of loads of people, what do you do?

- A. Apologise and take full responsibility.
- B. Make a stupid joke and laugh at it in an affected, nasal, slightly homosexual, middle class accent.
- C. Stick your tongue out and pull a stupid face.

B. Cruising the streets of Amsterdam looking for young boys.

C. Eating kebabs and crying.

Q8. If you were ever to be in the paper, what would you like it to be for?

- A. Growing marrows.
- B. Being depressed about your fall from the limelight.
- C. Being drunk and starting a fight whilst out with some celebs.

Q9. Who's your best friend?

A. It's difficult to say, I've got lots of friends - In the allotment society, the crown green bowling society, the domino society...

B. Hmm! It's a toss up (or should that be toss off) between Dale Winton and Michael Barrymore.

C. Some big fat five-bellied fucker.

Q10. You're planning a quiet night in - what do you buy from the supermarket?

A. A bottle of wine, a Dover sole and a cherry cheesecake.

B. Buy? Never! You put things under your trolley and 'pretend' you've forgotten about them.

C. 100 bottles of Newky Broom and 48 bags of crisps (For a light snack!)

Q11. Who's your favourite football team?

A. Manchester United.

B. Young Boys of Berne.

C. Any, as long as they pay you enough kebab money.

*"Who
nicked me fuckin' kebab!"*

Q7. How will you spend the summer?

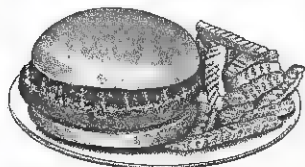

- A. On a 2 week holiday in The Lake District.

or the next Gazza?

Q12. You've unexpectedly got an extra month off in the summer - how do you spend it?

- A. You use the time to tidy up the garden.
- B. Cruise the public lavatories of your area, in the hope of a seedy wank off a pissed accountant who still lives with his mother.
- C. Get drunk, beat up your ex-wife, cry, belch at reporters, bleach your hair, cry some more and make a pop record with some crap, obscure Georgie band.

How did you score?

So are you the next Biggins or the next Gazza?

Mostly A's

Neither - you're someone's fuckin dad.

Mostly B's

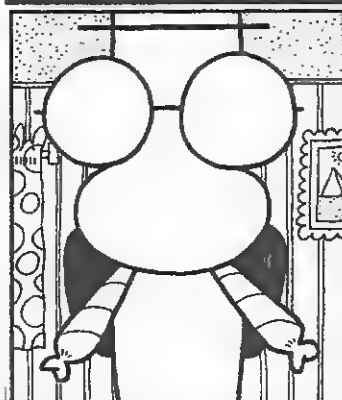

Biggins and no doubt. Get yerself measured up for that safari suit pronto. See you on an afternoon gameshow, you fat cunt.

Mostly C's

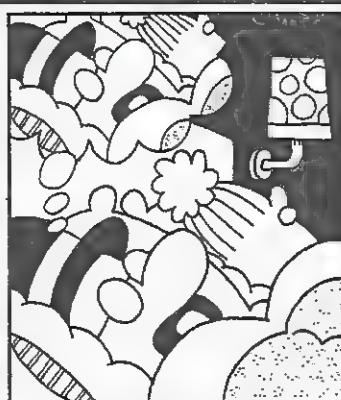

The crown is yours. Go out and find a blonde who doesn't mind a slap.

THE PRINCESS DI BEAN-BAG!

$12

Oh my God, what a fitting tribute. It's the ultimate memento of a woman who was not only the Princess of our hearts, but of our less popular organs as well.

Forget all those tacky, overpriced plates, dolls and margerines you see in the Sunday Supplements. Show the world that you really did love her the best with a Princess Di Bean-Bag.

Hand crafted from whale skin and stuffed with baby foxes (It's what she would have wanted), the Princess Di Bean-Bag makes a tasteful addition to any living room. And don't forget - Some of the money raised goes to charity, not a lot mind, less than half. Available for a limited period only.

BOOK AVAILABLE
'Setting Up A Grow
Room' - £3

GROWING INDOORS IS EASY

1 Wet soil and plant seed same depth as seed

2 Place in a warm place
(e.g. a propagator) until seed has germinated.

3 As soon as seed
germinates place under growlight for approximately 2 weeks

Many plants like 18
hours light in 24 hours

Then change growlight day length to flowering - many plants flower with 12 hours light in 24 hours. Your plants will begin to be covered with flowers. Often plants are ready for harvesting after 7 - 10 weeks in a flowering cycle. By now even under a 400w unit you should have ounces of your favourite herbs and flowers.

IT'S THAT EASY.

WOULD YOU BEALE-IEVE IT?

INCREDIBLE TRUE STORIES FROM THE EASTEND'S TOP FISH MONKEY...

THIS MONTH BEALE INVESTIGATES THE EATING HABITS OF THE BRITISH MONARCHY

Julie VII's favourite meal was lamprey - a long, thin, scaleless fish, very similar to an eel. The old Queen loved lamprey so much that she spent almost all of her free time in a small green dinghy on the Thames, fishing about for them.

Over the years she caught and devoured many a Lamprey... but then one day an unusually large and aggressive lamprey came along. It rammed her boat over and over again until it sank, then crushed the poor Queen to her slow death.

During the early thirties, King Greg VIIICI the third, became convinced that many of his sworn enemies (it is unclear how he made so many enemies. Ancient manuscripts say he was a "Double nish and ban-gin' Geezah") were planning to poison his food. In a blind panic he ran out and hired forty six food tasters, then insisted that all of his meals be sampled by each of them in turn before he'd touch a morsel. Three weeks later he was dead. Starved. Is that funny or what?

In 1146, King Bod IV became Britain's first vegetarian monarch.

After his mother, Queen Bod III choked on a hog, the young boy king banned the consumption of meat based products throughout his kingdom. This led to an unprecedented explosion in the live-stock population. Culminating in the great cattle revolt of 1148, when a herd of hungry friesians stormed the gates of Buckingham Palace and ate all the grass. Blimey!

In the olden days, about 6 million BC or summat, in the reign of King Colin the Dull, the most popular dish in Britain was rocks and moss.

And Snickers were called Marathons. Incredible but TRUE

THIS MONTH'S SPECIAL COD AND CHIPS £2.50

King Terrence the second insisted that all of his meats be very well done. When once, quite by accident, a daft butler served him with an uncooked slumbering ferret, the monarch went nuts. He stabbed Sidney Boggle (the then Archbishop of Fife) in the thigh with a rusty prong! The poor chap died. So did the king, but years later, and in a different way.
